

Cui Shufei, Japan's novel coronavirus pneumonia, has reported that the new crown pneumonia has been popular in Japan since 15, according to Japanese TV reports, 15, at a press conference on, Japan's TV station.

According to the report, Kato said at a press conference that up to five places in Japan have had confirmed cases that have no direct relationship with China and do not know the route of infection. "More in-depth investigation is needed in the future, and now the situation has changed." Novel coronavirus pneumonia will be held in 16 days to discuss the current "what stage of epidemic" is currently in Japan, Kato Katsunobu said.

In addition, novel coronavirus pneumonia was added to 15 new Wakayama county's new crown pneumonia patients in the same county as the more than 50 year old male doctor, the doctor's wife, and a more than 60 year old male hospitalized patient, according to Kyodo news agency. The new day was 3. According to NHK, 7 of the 8 newly diagnosed patients in Tokyo attended the same annual meeting with taxi drivers diagnosed on the 15th, and the remaining 1 took Shinkansen to Aichi County for business trip. Nagoya's newly diagnosed 60 year old woman was the wife of an elderly man who returned from Hawaii.