

According to the data platform of Seoul municipal government on March 23, there were 1600 restaurants, cafes and other catering stores closed in Seoul in the first and middle of March, an increase of 9% over the same period last year. Of these, 114 were restaurants that opened before 2008.